Race, Gender, and Class in Criminology: The Intersections (Routledge Library Editions: Women and Crime)

Race, Gender, and Class in Criminology: The Intersections (Routledge Library Editions: Women and Crime)

These essays, first published in 1996, focus on class, race, and gender as organising and analytical concepts in criminology. For many years, their importance in studying how the world relates to crime and its control was minimized or ignored. It is clear, however, that these concepts are of critical importance in understanding societal issues, especially crime and societal responses to it. This title will be of interest to students of criminology.
